

Strategies to support your English revision:

Exercise Books!

The work you complete in class is dedicated to you. Your English teacher tailors lessons to make them most suited to your needs. The work in your folder and exercise books is irreplaceable. Use the notes! Rewrite ideas, redraft practice questions, revise quotations/plot summaries, read WAGOLs, etc.

Revision Guides!

Use them to support your revision. Each guide will contain quizzes to prompt your memory – use them and assess yourself.

If you haven't done so already and you have purchased books, please collect them from A101.

YouTube:

There are people online (including a Dormston English department playlist) who take you through step-by-step the questions across the paper: how to break it down and how to revise.

Top tips: Mr Bruff (Language), Mrs Whealan's English (Language), Dormston's page for the poetry, etc.

Online Resources!

- Doodle: we have uploaded the revision timetable and other quizzes to support you
- Quote Master app: quick and easy quotation memory games. Use all except for the poetry sections – they're not relevant to you.
- Quizlet, Seneca, etc!

Practice Questions:

We are using Eduqas for Literature and AQA for Language. There are HEAPS of practice materials in your exercise books, folders and online. Redraft your Literature mock assessment to improve your grade – email it to your teacher to be marked.

If you simply google 'practice exam papers' for either Literature or Language you will find a lot of resources we may have already given you!
